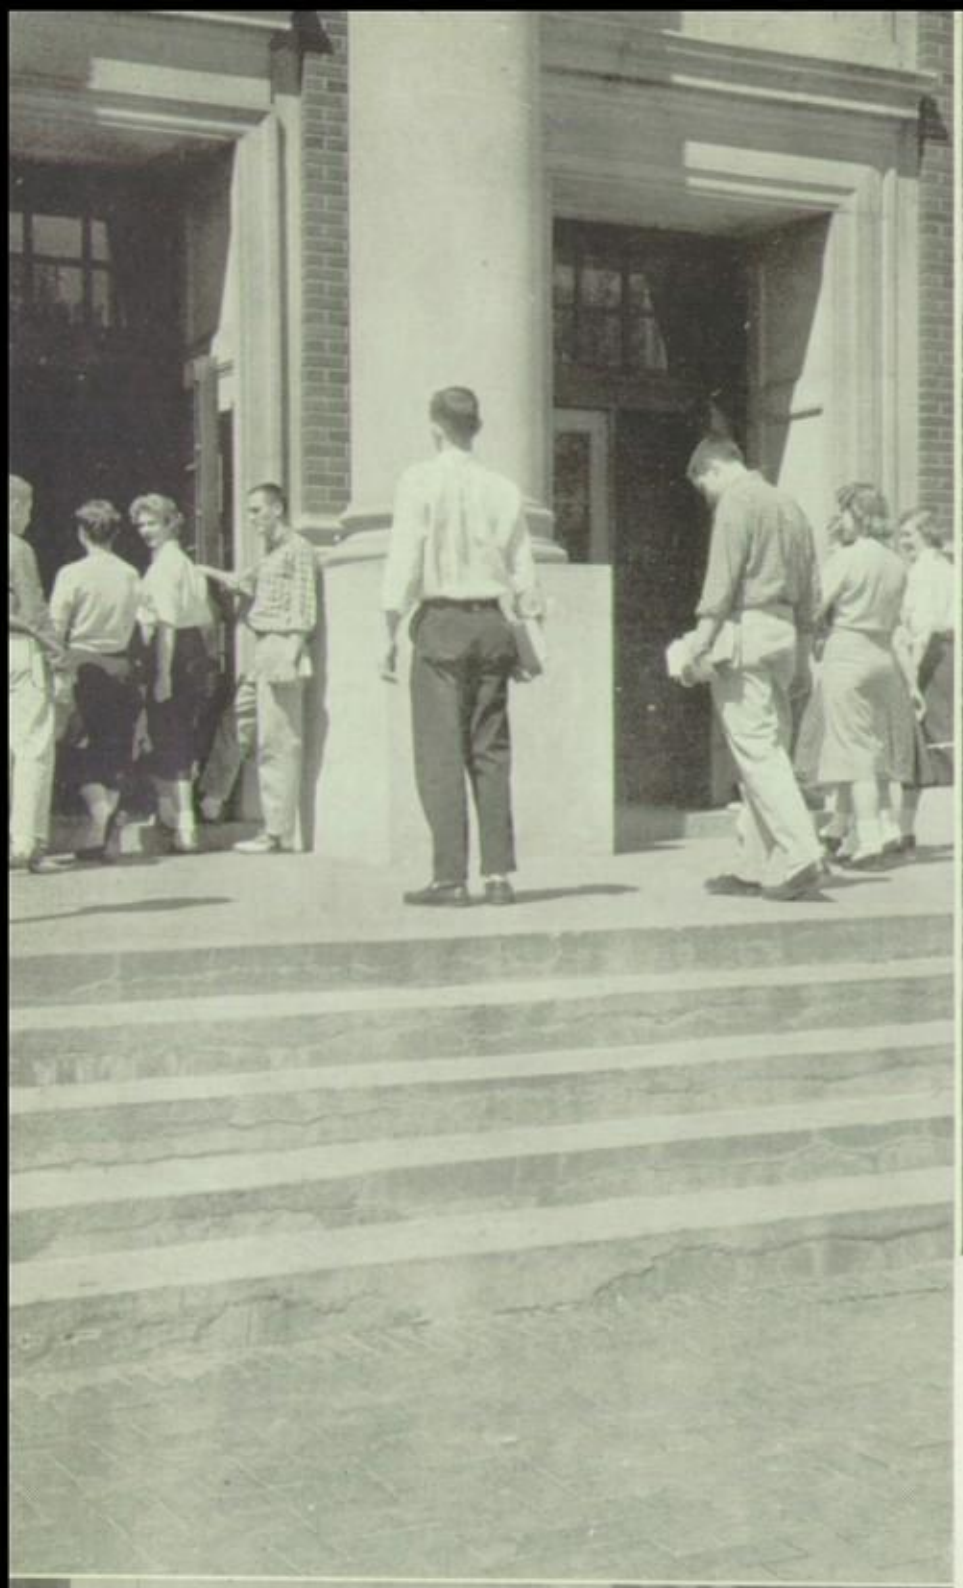
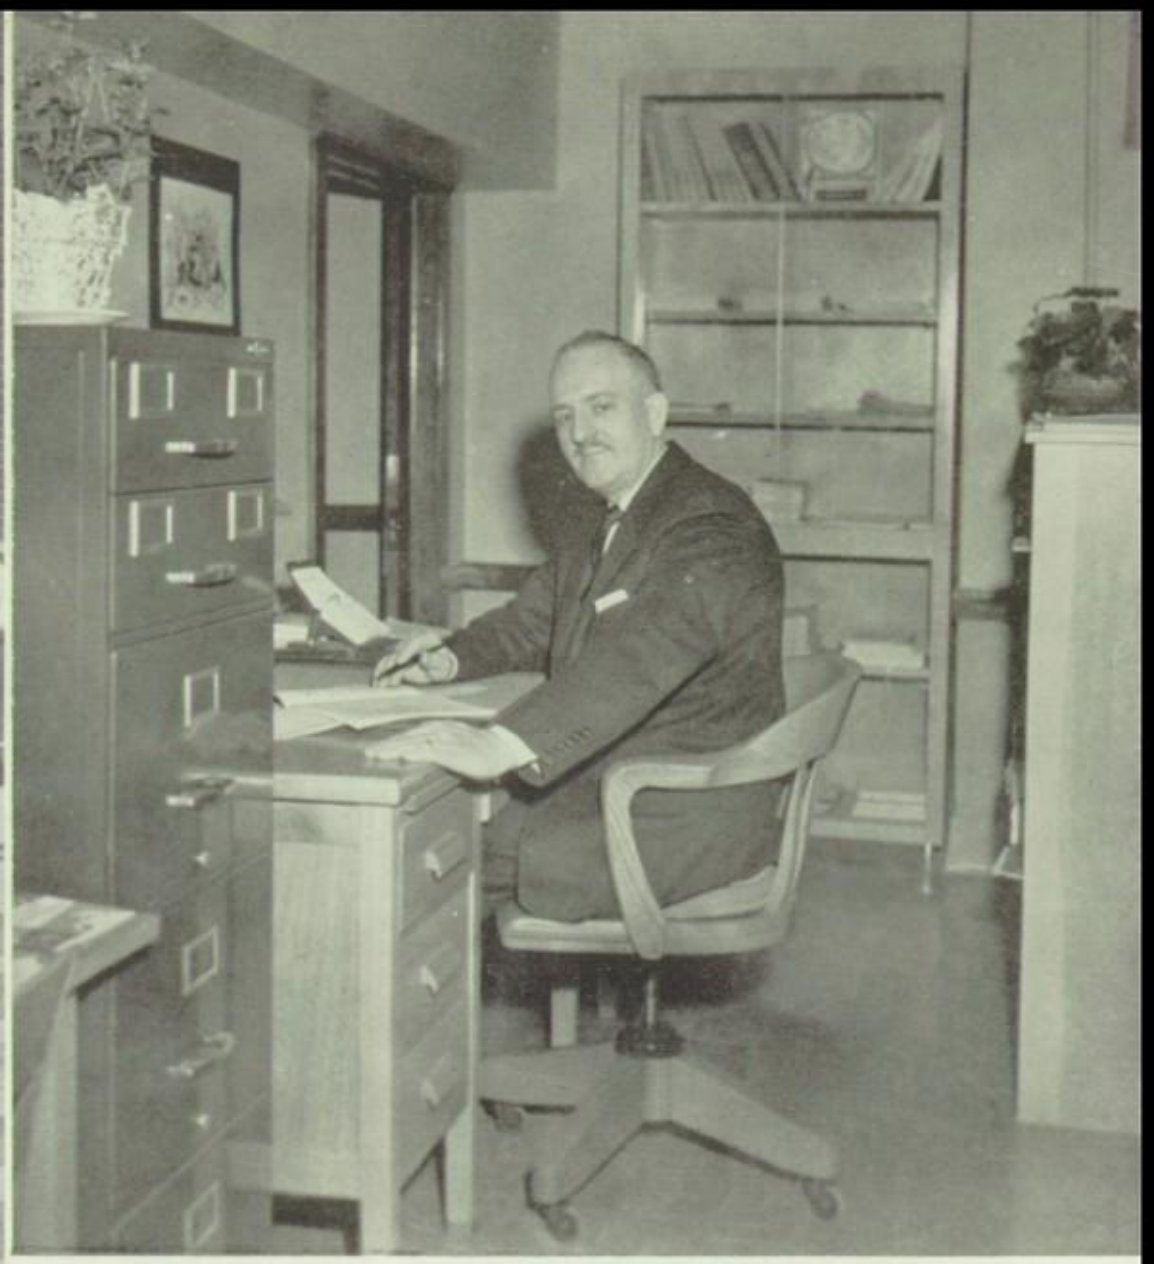
Southwest High School

Kansas City, Missouri





Vice-Principal Gordon E. Wesner works in his new office as co-ordinator of curriculum, a position created to improve standards of instruction and methods of teaching.

Southwest opens its doors to a record enrollment of 2131 pupils, more than twice as many as in its first year, 1925.

This year's giftorian Heather Graham admires one of the plaques presented by last year's graduating class, which commemorate senior gifts.

Farewell to a faithful servant, the Country Club line, as the street cars leave for their last trip from the Sixty-fifth Street shelter house, a Student Council project around 1942.

At the entrance of the Louis A. House Memorial Field stands this gate, dedicated to our beloved coach.

Football and basketball captain Burt Jensen and Coach George Ewing are reminded by this memorial, as are all other Indians, of Coach House's ideals of good sportsmanship.

Southwest welcomes its new vice-principal Donald S. Stephens, who is shown congratulating Alexandra Roll, valedictorian of the senior class.

The library at Southwest has the largest circulation of any of the fifteen branches in Kansas City. It is a most valuable asset for that "outside" reading.

THE SENIOR CLASS

President	EDDIE ROWE
Vice-President	MARVIN BRENNER
Secretary	SUZIE BAKER
Treasurer	EMMY HAAS
Giftorian	HEATHER GRAHAM
Publicity Chairman	BARBARA CAMERON
Sergeant-at-Arms	MARGIE CRITTEN

The president serves in all official functions as the representative of the senior class and is the presiding chairman over senior meetings, the Senior Business Committee, and the commencement committee. Responsible for assuming the president's duties in his absence and in charge of the various Prom committees is the vice-president. As secretary, one is expected to record the minutes of the meetings and handle correspondence; as treasurer, to handle all finances. Perhaps one of the more important positions is that of the giftorian, who conducts research in choosing the senior gift and then presents this gift to the school. The publicity chairman is expected to handle publicity for senior events, while the sergeant-at-arms acts as parliamentarian and maintains order at meetings.

SENIOR BUSINESS COMMITTEE

This year's very efficient Senior Business Committee is composed of twenty outstanding leaders of the senior class who were elected in the fall of the school term. In order to manage the complex affairs of the senior class these members are organized into seven sub-committees, each under the direction of a senior class officer. These sub-committees present various reports to the committee at large, which in turn accepts or rejects the recommendations. Projects such as the senior gift are then presented in organized form to a vote of the entire senior class.

to our astonishment that after all there is an end to high school, and after all we did make it, and after all it is rather amazing, isn't it!

This year Southwest welcomed Dave as its third foreign exchange student. Actively interested in classroom and extracurricular activities, Dave has found many new friends at Southwest, but perhaps the closest friendships formed are with Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan, Gayle, and John—his 'adopted' family.

A relatively new organization, but one of great importance both to the prospective leaders of Southwest and to their class members, is the Junior Business Committee. Training received by the participating members is valuable in forming future habits of successful organization and leadership; representation of the junior class is helpful in coordinating projects with the senior class such as the Junior-Senior Prom.

The greater part of the eighth grader's school time is consumed by his Common Learnings class which correlates English, spelling, social studies, and science. Trips, speakers, and activities add additional interest to the subjects being studied. This class is invaluable in aiding the new students to bridge the gap between grade school and high school work.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Southwest's chapter of the National Honor Society was established in 1928 to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to promote service and leadership, and to develop character. At the initiation ceremony held in May, this year's fifty-one initiates filed down the center aisle to the notes of "Pomp and Circumstance." The girls' white dresses and the boys' dark suits contrasted with the bright-colored robes worn by the alums of last year's senior class to make a very beautiful and impressive ceremony.

The National Art Honor Society commemorated its twenty-fifth anniversary at the time of its induction of new members with a big celebration to which all the past members of the society were invited. In addition, an exhibit consisting of pieces from some fifteen chapters of the National Art Honor Society in all parts of the United States was held at the Nelson Art Gallery. This year's main projects were raising money for the two hundred dollar scholarship given each year to a deserving student and the retouching of the school's murals.

QUILL and SCROLL

The A. B. McDonald chapter of the Quill and Scroll was organized at Southwest in 1935. Quill and Scroll is an international society for high school journalists. To be eligible for the society, one must have done outstanding work in writing, in business, or in art on either of Southwest's publication staffs, the SACHEM or the TRAIL.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council started the year off well with the distribution of brochures welcoming the new students. Later, everyone found that the Student Affairs' bulletin board was really kept up to date, that the Lost and Found had been opened, and that a new school flag had been purchased. In January a successful exchange assembly with Paseo was held, and in April Southwest students participated in City Hall Day. To wind up the year, the Student Council sold shares to pay for the expenses of next year's exchange students.

RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross Council again lived up to its worthy name. With the backing of the entire student body, the annual Red Cross drive went over the goal, with part of this year's fund going to the relief of Hungarian refugees. The Council also sponsored entertainment for the near-by veterans' hospitals and sent three boxes of school supplies to poverty-stricken countries overseas. The newly acquired Red Cross bulletin board in the cafeteria, with its interesting articles and pictures, helped stimulate the school's interest in this worthwhile organization.

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club for the first time in its history is an all-girl organization. This year's debatable question was what improved Southwest's cheering ability, the lack of boys in the Pep Club or the hard work of our athletic teams. Whatever the answer, the Indians' spirit has really been great. The snake dance on the football field at each game helped liven up everyone's enthusiasm and gave Southwest a chance to show all the schools our terrific school spirit. The Pep Club's main project this year was the fabulous homecoming dance.

MISS PAULINE WOLFE and MRS. IDA S. WELLS

Athena, founded in the fall of 1953, takes its name from the Greek goddess of wisdom and intellect. The group is beginning to feel established at Southwest, since the last of its charter members are being graduated this June. Athena regretted the loss at the end of first semester of Miss Pauline Wolfe, who was the society's original sponsor, but is initiating her successor, Mrs. Ida S. Wells, into the complexities of lit. club sponsorship.

DELPHI

The name, Delphi, is taken from the shrine of the same name, which was dedicated to Apollo, the Greek god of fine arts. Members of Delphi didn't wait for the Literary Contest this spring, but staged one of their own earlier in the year, which stimulated interest in the year's main event. It provided good practice as well as fun and excitement.

EXCELSIOR

Excelsior was formed in 1945 by the merging of two former literary societies, Baconian and Ruskin. Its name is derived from the Latin comparative meaning "higher." It is not difficult to see that Excelsior was founded before Summus. Oh, why did Excelsior leave such an opening? Excelsior used speakers as a means of learning how to improve their speaking and writing abilities.

Omega is the Greek letter which stands for civilization and culture. This symbol was taken as the name of the girls' literary society which was founded in 1951. They, too, buckled down to work preparing for the Lit. Contest, and had guest speakers during the year, in the hope that the speakers' knowledge and advice would lead them to their goal—the cup.

SAPPHO

Sappho derives its name from the Greek poetess who was the world's first woman writer. Sappho was organized during Southwest's first year under the sponsorship of Miss Katharine Morgan, who established literary societies at Southwest, and has been a contest winner many times in its long history. Tying for first place with Zend-Avesta in 1956, Sappho spent the year getting ready to defend last year's victory.

SESAME

From a tale in The Arabian Nights come the words, "Open, O Sesame, and let your followers through the gateway of knowledge." From this quotation come both Sesame's name and goal. In 1952 this group received the distinction of being the only girls' society to win the Literary Contest for the third time in succession and thus keep the coveted cup.

SUMMUS

Summus, one of the newest literary societies at Southwest, takes its name from the Latin word meaning "highest." Since Summus's main goal was to work hard with the Literary Contest always in mind, instruction in all written and oral events was given to help prepare Summusians for the big event. An important activity of the group this year was a debate with Zend-Avesta upon the foreign policy of the United States in the recent Far East problem. There was so much discussion as to who won the debate that it was finally called a draw.

Veda was founded during the first year of Southwest's existence. It takes its name from the Hindu books of learning and wisdom. Veda's social activities for the year started off with the initiation ceremony at the home of Mary Lawrie. During the year, wearers of the blue and white had at their meetings guest speakers who helped them in their work for the Literary Contest.

ZEND-AVESTA

The name, Zend-Avesta, refers to the interpretation of the sacred books of the ancient Zoroastrian religion. Z. A. is the only lit. society which can boast of winning two cups in the inter-club contest. But most impressive is the fact that these cups represent six consecutive victories. Polishing silver is one of Zend-Avesta's favorite pastimes!

The initiation of certain lucky seniors into the National Honor Society is one of Southwest's most dignified ceremonies—some says it's more impressive than graduation.

Organizations in Action

Southwest girls don their best bib-and-tuckers for the annual Literary Society Tea which is held in October at the University of Kansas City to give the members and the rushees a chance to become better acquainted.

Future Rembrandts and Renoirs are given a chance to display their talents in the annual exhibit put on by members and prospective members of the National Art Honor Society.

When asked about the Chess Club's activities, its sponsor is quoted as saying, "We play chess." Such deep thinking in leisure time must help keep wits sharpened for the schoolroom.

SCIENCE CLUB

The major activity of the Science Club was to work out the projects which were entered in Southwest's and the city's Science Fairs. This entailed much discussion, planning, and hard work. On the club's agenda for programs were a guest speaker from Midwest Research who lectured on cancer and a field trip to the James W. Weldon Metallurgical Laboratories, where a capsule of "live" cobalt was shown to the members.

ENGINEERS CLUB

The highlights of this year's activities in the Engineers Club have been the field trips to the Kansas City Water Works, to the James W. Weldon Metallurgical Laboratories, and to the University of Kansas City for a lecture on topology. These trips, along with several guest speakers, have made the Engineers Club an interesting activity for its members.

Hestia, a club for those interested in the art of homemaking, offered its members a year of well-balanced activities. For its annual project, scrapbooks were prepared for the Cerebral Palsy Center. The outstanding program was the fashion show where the members modeled clothes which they had made themselves. The refreshments after the show were furnished by girls who had baked their favorite recipes.

The purpose of the A. H. Monsees Chapter of the Future Teachers of America is to help the members choose their fields of teaching and to become good teachers. To achieve this purpose, F. T. A. heard speakers, who talked on their field of teaching, and saw movies on the lives of famous educators. At Christmas the members collected books and games which they took to the children at the Brookside Day Nursery; they also gave them a party on George Washington's birthday. F. T. A. started a scholarship fund to be given to a senior who is planning to go into the field of education.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

Above the doorway of Room 200, there is a sign which reads "Aqui se habla espanol." This command is strictly adhered to by the members of the Spanish Club, el Circulo Espanol, for the meetings are conducted entirely in Spanish. One of the year's most interesting programs was presented by el senor Gumucio, who spoke to the club about his native country, Bolivia. Other programs consisted of skits, slides, and talks by those who have lived or traveled in a Spanish-speaking country.

LE TRICOLORE

Le Tricolore, Southwest's French club, gives the French students an opportunity to learn more about the French people, their customs, and their language. Activities this year included films, a Christmas party, and a visit to the Nelson Art Gallery to see a French art exhibit. The most interesting program was a talk about the life of a French teen-ager, which was given by Central's exchange student.

SCHERZO

Founded just last year, the music club Scherzo is the newest club at Southwest. As its name implies, Scherzo is full of pep and fun. Its members enjoyed lectures on theory and talks by members of the Philharmonic; but they also enjoyed each other, as evidenced by the Christmas ice-skating party at Lakeside. This year's main project was to award a plaque to the outstanding senior in the orchestra, an honor similar to the Lester Milgram Band Award.

The Y-Teens' program was a full one this year. Charity projects, such as the Christmas gifts taken to the children at the Della C. Lamb Neighborhood House, mingled with an educational program designed to interest the members in vocations such as nursing and in useful arts such as flower arranging. Good fellowship was also stressed, and a well-rounded social program was enjoyed by the girls.

Y-TEENS

SERVICE COMMITTEES

The Cafeteria Courtesy Committee, better known as the C. C. C., did a fine job this year. The slogan of the C. C. C.—"Pass your dishes to the end of the table, and push your stools under the table"—is part of every Indian's lunch hour. In addition to helping keep the cafeteria clean, the C. C. C. members sold ice cream and candy, helped in the teachers' annex, and patrolled the lunch line and the doors. This year's officers were the president, Brent Moorman, vice-president, Pete Protzman, secretary-treasurer, Jane MacGee, and publicity chairman, Hal Woodhead.

Amateur Shylocks were Miss Smith's assistants, who helped her count all the money collected by the school and saw that it was delivered safely to the bank each day. Miss Dreyer's assistant filed the health cards, took temperatures, and in general acted as a Florence Nightingale in the Health Center. Prospective business administration majors known as office assistants filed, ran errands, and made themselves generally useful to the office staff. All these committees are voluntary and have rendered a worthwhile service to Southwest.

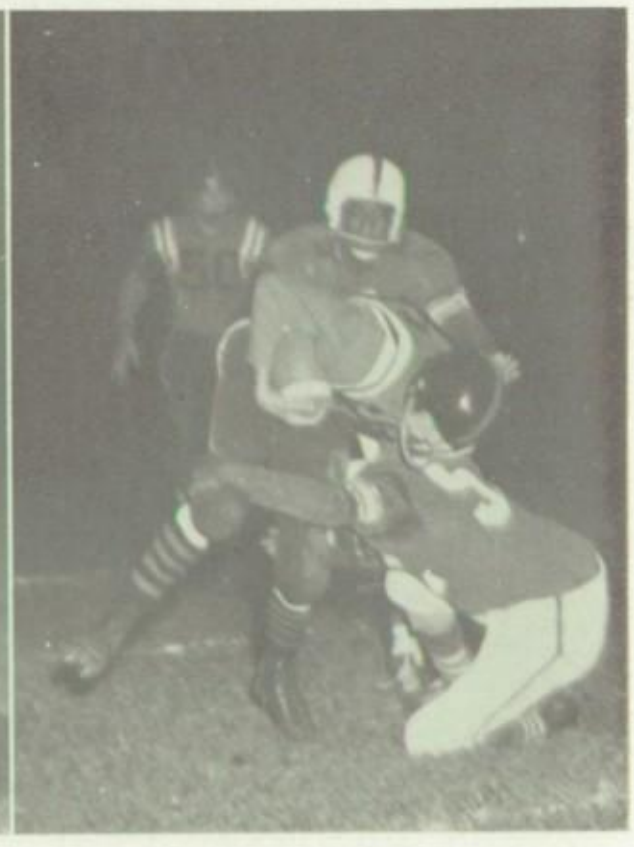
MR. NURSKI and MR. BREWSTER, coaches

After suffering two losses in non-league competition, including a hard fought contest with our Kansas rivals from Shawnee Mission, Southwest crushed both Paseo and East with an impressive show of power. When their championship hopes were extinguished by a severe defeat at the hands of a powerful Southeast squad, the Indians proved that their fighting spirit was not quenched by scalping Manual and Westport by large margins. The offense and defense, under the able direction of Coaches Nurski and Brewster, combined to win for Southwest a third place in the Interscholastic league and two berths on the All City Team. The 1956 grid squad will be remembered as one of the finest to wear the orange and black.



BURT JENSEN: The great qualities and abilities which won for Burt a place on the All-City Team were prime factors in the Tribe's success this year.

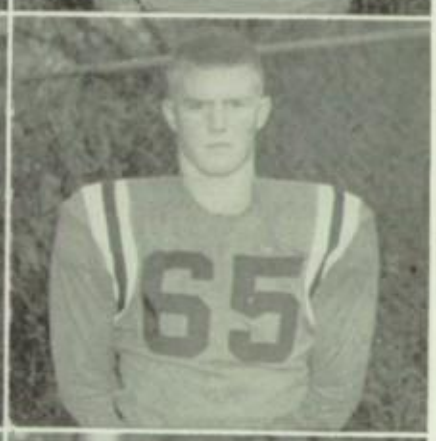
JERRY BOYCE: Shiftiness, deception, and defensive ability made Jerry one of the outstanding players on the varsity this year.

BOB CARLSON: A fine defensive lineman, Bob will be counted on to bolster the line again next year.

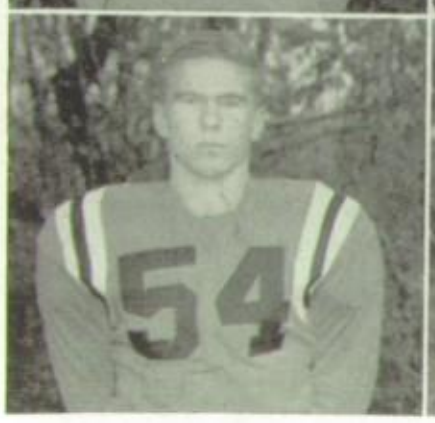
BILL EAGLSTEIN: Bill's rugged defensive play contributed heavily to the Indians' fine season.

BILL FAETH: Fine ball handling and sharp play calling will make Bill a great asset to next year's team.

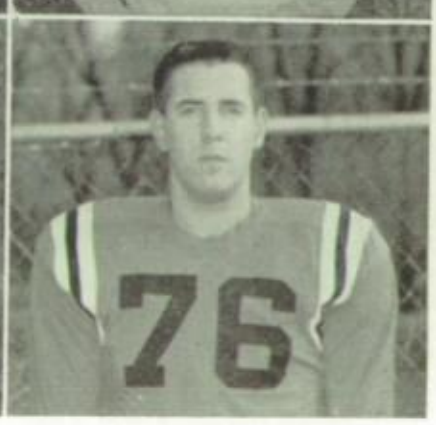
TOM FALLMAN: Big Tom's powerful offensive blocking opened the holes for many outstanding runs this year.



JERRY FOGEL: Jerry, one of the Tribe's outstanding ball carriers, demonstrated his fighting spirit all year.



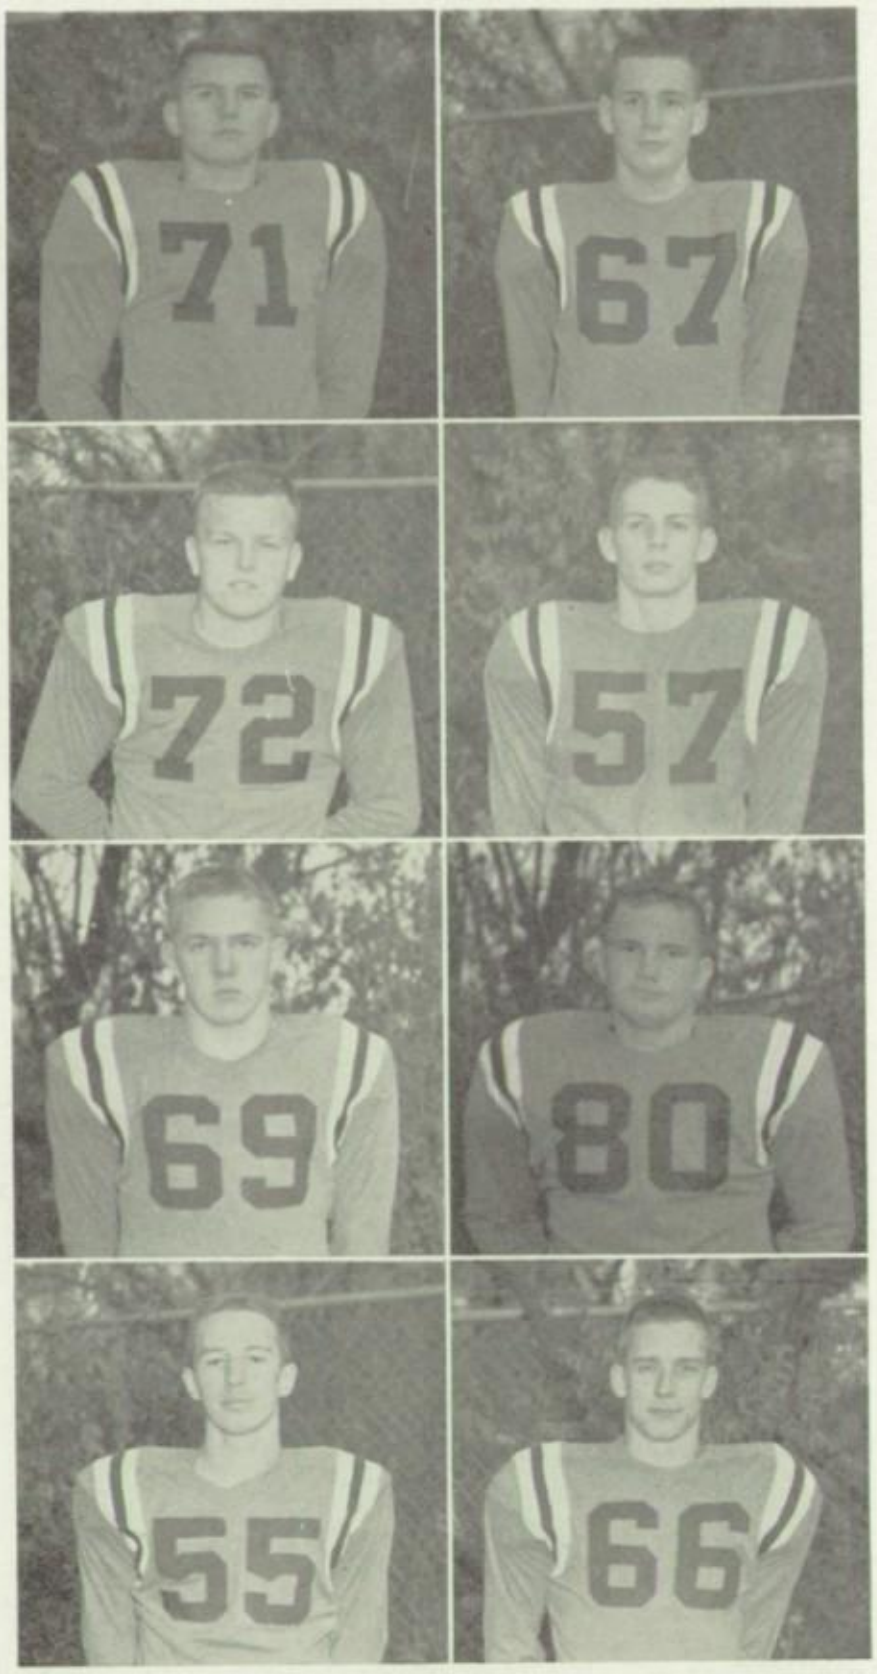
MIKE GIERINGER: Mickey, injured early in the season, was sorely missed in the Indians' attack.



DICK HALL: Dick, who was a great asset to the team although injured midway in the season, will be back next year.

BOB HILL: Bob, a senior, helped to plug up the line many times throughout the season.

JIM HINES: Jim proved to be an outstanding pass receiver at end this year.



JACK JACKSON: Jarring Jack, who won a berth on the Second All-City Team, will be back next year to play his rugged brand of tackle.

JOHN LAING: John played fine, deceptive ball at halfback this year and will return next season to do the same.

GEORGE MANSFIELD: Named to the Second All-City Team this year, George was one of the league's top ground gainers.

BILL MILLER: Bill, a rugged guard, added strength to the middle of the line this year and will be an asset to next year's eleven.

BRENT MOORMAN: Brent, a foxy halfback, eluded many tacklers in becoming one of the Indians' leading rushers.

PARKER MYERS: In his first year at Southwest, Parker won an Honorable Mention on the All-City Team for his fine play.

JAY ROBERTSON: Jay's tremendous job at center this year made him the only junior in the city to make the All-City Team.

PETE PROTZMAN: A mean guard and staunch defender, Pete was a powerful lineman in his final year.

BILL RUTLEDGE: Bill, an excellent pass receiver and fast ball carrier, will be back next year to help the team fight for the championship.

GEOFFREY SCHWERIN: An all around player, Geoffrey is a veteran of many positions and many tight spots.

JACK SHIPMAN: Although hampered by knee trouble, Jack, a lightning-fast halfback, proved a constant threat to our opponents.

MIKE WILCOX: Mike, a wiry guard, was a great help to the varsity in his final year.

ROGER WOHLERT: Roger's great defensive play at end will bolster the varsity next year as it did this year.

STEVE WOHLERT: Brother Steve proved himself a great offensive end and will also be back next year.

With the exception of an early loss to Shawnee Mission, the 1956 second team had a fine season, suffering only one other close loss at the hands of Southeast. The excellent balance and depth which contributed greatly to the success of the season are shown by the fact that all members of the squad lettered. With the experience gained under the fine instruction of Coach Robinson, second team members will be a great asset in the formation of next year's varsity.

HOMECOMING DANCE

A Queen crowned: Heather Graham

North winds ended Indian summer and changed the background of the Homecoming dance to a "Winter Wonderland," complete with a lodge, a sleigh, a false ceiling, and winter scenes on all of the gym walls. The Homecoming dance, held on November 3, attracted the largest group of Indians in several years and was a great success.

CROSS COUNTRY

Although the Southwest Cross Country Team lost first place in the Interscholastic League Cross Country Meet to Paseo, they ran a close second with Bill Fuller leading the way and taking individual honors.

STANDING: Don Burget, Richard Harpel, Bill Fuller, Coach Ewing. KNEELING: Bob Walje, Jim Baker, Lynn Brown.

GOLF TEAM

This year's golf team is looking forward to a season rivaling that of last year, in which the squad went undefeated in Interscholastic League competition to capture the league crown. The team will be selected from the following:

TENNIS TEAM

The Southwest Tennis Team did a terrific job this year. Herb Schaffer placed first in the singles match of the high school tournament and Steve Vile placed second. Gene Rostov and Dave Alexander represented Southwest well in the doubles match.

STANDING: John Hoffman, Gene Rostov, Steve Vile, Dave Alexander. KNEELING: Herb Schaffer, Jerry Wacknov, Bill Koll.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

TOP ROW: Mr. Nurski, Roger Wohlert, Jim Hines, Tom Fallman, Parker Myers, Steve Wohlert, Norman Majors, Steve Altman, Gene Rostov, David Masters, Jay Robertson, Harvey Rosenthal, Mr. Kipp. SECOND ROW: Brent Moorman, Dick Harpel, Bill Miller, Marvin Standley, Jack Jackson, Jerry Fogel, Bob Carlson, Jack Shipman, Geoffrey Schwerin, John Laing, Bill Faeth. BOTTOM ROW: Middleton Perry, Jeff Lenn, Gary Sharp, Stuart Paterson, Mike Gieringer (vice-president), Pete Protzmann (president), Mike Wilcox (treasurer), Dick Hall (secretary), Burt Jensen, Jerry Boyce, Bill Eaglstein.

Basketball

Although the Southwest High School cagers of 1957 possessed many of the qualities required for a championship team, lack of experience stifled expectations of a champion five. The 1957 squad was one of the most spirited teams we have ever had, and was always fighting until the final gun. After a defeat by our rival Indians from Shawnee Mission, the team edged out East in their first league contest. Although defeated in four straight league battles after this, the squad snapped back to clobber Manual and Van Horn by large margins. The climax of the season was a pair of very close games with Southeast and Northeast. Although the Knights bettered us by three points, we downed the Vikings by four, in the season finale. This year's lack of experience will be made up for next year by seven returning lettermen and by an excellent second team. Under the expert leadership of Coach Kipp, next year's squad will be a definite title challenger.

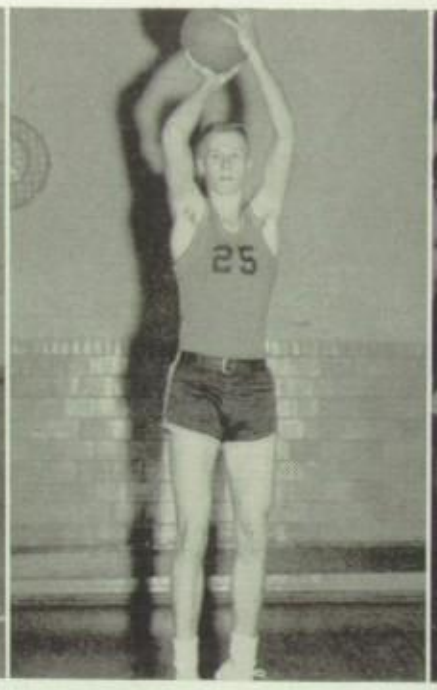
Steve Altman



Jim Baker

STEVE ALTMAN: Although Steve is not as big as some of the other players, he was second high scorer on the team this year. In his remaining year he should prove of exceptional value to the team.

JIM BAKER: A junior this year, Jim showed great promise of being an all-around player. He has the ability needed to be a star on next season's varsity.

JERRY BOYCE: Despite his size, Jerry is an excellent rebounder. This hustling player's outside shooting was his most valuable contribution to the team this year.

MIKE GIERINGER: This scrappy guard gave his all in every game. Good at everything he plays, Mickey with his spirit and drive will be missed tremendously in all sports next year.

BURT JENSEN: It is needless to review all of Burt's conquests and records in athletics at Southwest. His tremendous total of points was one of the major factors in the better side of the season. He will be missed on court and gridiron next year.

Bill Munro

NORM MAJORS: This tall center developed rapidly this year; Norm's hustle and determination will make him an extremely valuable member of the varsity squad next season.

DAVE MASTERS: Dave was one of the postmen this season. His excellent eye for the basket and his determination helped greatly throughout the season.

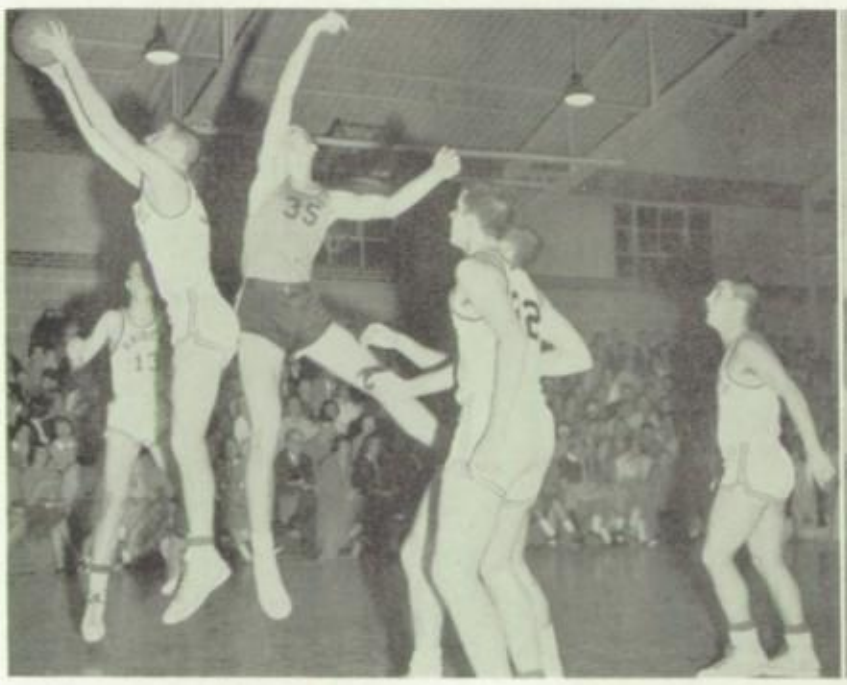
BILL MUNRO: Although Bill was on the team only part of the year, his solid rebounding and fine scoring helped much late in the season. He is a man to watch next December.

GENE ROSTOV: One of two returning lettermen, Gene alternated at the forward and post positions. His greatest value to the squad was his consistent rebounding.

BILL RUTLEDGE: Bill sat out part of the season because of injuries but showed good potential as a future high scorer. He will be back next year to verify this expectation and help the team to victory.

Gene Rostov

Bill Rutledge



The basketball second team under Coach Ewing recorded another league championship this year. Top rate teams seem to be a habit of Coach Ewing, for in ten years of coaching the second team he has won five league championships and run a close second in the other five. The second team stars are the varsity champions of tomorrow; and, having profited from this year's experience, they will fill the gaps in next year's varsity.

GIRLS' SPORTS

A variety of sports, hockey, basketball, swimming, volleyball, table tennis, badminton, soccer, and dancing, were all part of the Girls' Physical Education Department's program this year. Many girls participated in the intramural sports working for an eighth grade award, first or second award, school letter, or a gold pin. Southwest was well represented in the three Sports Days which climaxed the hockey, basketball, and softball seasons.

Southwest's fine track record was well defended by last year's track squad. The season was highlighted by an A Team which was undefeated in its Interscholastic League meets and by a B Team which captured their division of the City Meet. Four seemed to be a mystic number for the Indians, as the Tribe placed fourth in the City Meet, the St. Joe Relays, the William Jewell Relays, and the K.U. Relays. The 1956 team proved that determination and good sportsmanship create success; with many of the varsity stars returning and with a strong second team, Coaches Ewing and Robinson should be able to carry the outstanding track record of Southwest to even greater heights in 1957.

Gilbert and Sullivan made their second appearance at Southwest with the production of "The Mikado." Having to follow the wonderful work done on "H.M.S. Pinafore," the cast had no small feat to accomplish; but the operetta was a truly excellent piece of work. The great amount of labor put into the production by the art staff and music department resulted in a very professional job of staging. The Male Chorus, Girls' Glee Clubs, and Concert Choir all gave excellent performances as the Japanese populace. All this, together with the very convincing work done by the soloists, made one feel as if he were viewing a transplanted Japan, created as only our music department could create it.

Yum-Yum and her lover Nanki-Poo.

Everyone seems happy that "he's going to marry Yum-Yum."

Some startling news sends the Lord High Executioner out looking for some heads "that never will be missed."

The grand entrance of the Mikado.

"Three little maids from school are we."

The Senior Play is always an exciting highlight of the year when the seniors all become Thespians and try their hand at acting. This year's production of "Little Women" introduced some new difficulties in staging not present in previous years. The girls' large hoop skirts and boys' tight fitting coats and ruffled shirts of the Civil War period were troublesome at first; but by the night of the performance, the girls handled their skirts gracefully and the boys acted as if they had always worn high hats and shirts be-decked with ruffles. Not only the seniors, but the whole school can certainly feel proud of the excellent job done by the entire cast.

"Dear little Beth" feels the presence of God.

Three of the little women with their sweethearts.

Hanna greets John Brooke and Mr. Lawrence.

The little women.

Aunt March and Marmee disagree over financial matters.

Assemblies

Tom Weaver was guest soloist with the Kansas City Philharmonic in the first series of concerts presented in all the high schools.

"You'll read it all in the Trail," according to these little Indians, and its circulation shows what a persuasive job they did of selling our great school newspaper.

Marvin Brenner, the candidate from Southwest for All-City Student Mayor, gives some sound advice in his campaign speech.

Our stage becomes more crowded every year at the award assembly as more and more win high honors for outstanding service and scholarship.

Shades of Shakespeare! The Sachem staff does a little editing, this time on "Macbeth," to start off their sales campaign.

Debate Team

The Debate Team debated several different schools this year on the National Forensic proposition supporting 90% of parity as an answer to the farm problem. The participants have derived valuable experience in exercising their knowledge of public speaking. The teams are sponsored by Miss Grace Breen and Mr. Richard Griffith.

To the stage crew is given the responsibility of the technical work for assemblies and productions. Examples of their excellent work were the "Mikado," "Redskin Revels," and the beautiful Christmas and Easter assemblies. The stage crew erects all stage props and scenery, and operates the microphones, stage lighting effects, sound effects, and the spotlight. The faculty adviser is Mr. Richard Griffith.

The annual literary contest is one of the most exciting and enjoyable events during the school year. Preparations begin many months in advance as plans are made for the dinner on the evening of the contest, skits are written for presentation by each of the clubs, vocal cords are limbered up in practicing the club songs, and, most important of all, long hours are spent in working on contest material. The contest itself develops as much competitive spirit as any other event the school has. During the interlude between the oral events and the announcement of awards, all the societies are given the opportunity to sing their songs. Needless to say, a great deal of suspense has developed by the time Mr. Cannon finally reads the list of winners. This year the coveted silver cup awarded to the club having the most points for winning entries was won by Veda.

Senior Activities

One of the unusual gifts with which all seniors at Southwest seem to be blessed is the ability to carry not only a hard course of study, but also a staggering amount of outside activities. It has always been a mystery how some seniors seem to have more than the usual twenty-four hours per day and can go without food, water, or sleep for an unlimited amount of time. The seniors who are heard complaining that they have nothing to do, become, therefore, rare examples of the species.

The music department has the greatest proclivity to keep busy at one time the largest possible number of seniors. If it isn't the Redskin Revels, it's the operetta; if it isn't the Christmas Vespers, it's the Music Festival. The departmental clubs, Pep Club, Y-Teens and Hi-Y keep a goodly number in a state of semi-activity throughout the year, while literary societies have a way of demanding the most work for the contest just when research essays are due. Boys' and girls' athletics plus the ROTC require long hours after school preparing for "the big game," Sports Day, or the spit-and-polish of Field Day.

Those harassed people whom you see walking through the halls mumbling about copy and deadlines probably belong either to the Trail or the Sachem staff. Still others may be those tireless seniors who devote their time to those long Tuesday meetings of the Student Council and Red Cross. It gets to the place, they say, where the debate team has run out of arguments and the stage crew can't face another assembly or spectacular production; but just at this point, the year, thank goodness, nears the end and seniors receive their well-deserved rewards.

Those long hours spent on that essay or short story for the contest result in a gold or silver medal, the last Trail is printed, the Sachem is put to bed, membership in Quill and Scroll is announced, and the beautiful initiation for the National Honor Society makes it worth all the effort. Award Day assembly is a fitting climax as far as activities are concerned, for it is on that occasion that scholarships, other honors, and various activities are given recognition. The highest individual honor which any senior may receive is the Sis Arnold Award, granted to that boy or girl who, through leadership, scholarship, character, and service, has done the most for Southwest. With Commencement exercises, complete with cap and gown and that priceless diploma, ends the senior year —hard, yes, but so filled with study and activities that it can never be equaled in enjoyment.
